

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Final Adjournment—President Clark's Valedictory—The Bishop's Pastoral Address—Rushing Business Through Yesterday—Thanks to Everybody by Every Other Body.

Divers matters of minor importance came before the convention yesterday, and the calendar was run through as rapidly as possible. The resolution offered by Mr. Jennings a few days ago to prohibit certain ritualistic practices came up for action. The Doctor advocated its adoption. He went last, he said, to a so-called Protestant church in this city and found the door blocked with Catholic priests. He went to a second church and read a notice over its door that Mrs. Jarley's wax figures were on exhibition for the benefit of the church. He was opposed to Mrs. Jarley on the one hand and the scarlet woman on the other. Dr. De Haven called attention to the canon on ritualism already passed and said that he had four specifications—namely, kneeling, bowing, prostrations and genuflections. The first, which was omitted as not symbolizing false doctrines, was all that he or any other right-thinking ritualist needed for adoration. The others were either too irreverent or too reverent enough and must have been aimed, he thought, at the low churchmen. Dr. Adams, of Wisconsin, opposed the resolution, because it put one man's head in shadow—the chancery of the prize fighters—that it might be masked by another man.

A measure was introduced looking toward the localities and events of the battle to the assembled audience, and highly praised its first and beauty of the picture.

The New York Furriers' Exchange held its first formal meeting Monday evening at the corner of Bowery and Canal street, and chose George Brown President, Frank Bohner Vice President and George M. Jacques Secretary.

The funeral of Mr. William H. Raynor took place at No. 784 Fifth avenue yesterday, the Episcopal service being read by Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., who delivered a hearty eulogy on the character of the departed. Messrs. J. S. Morris, William R. Stewart, A. Raymond, W. H. Roe, C. L. Cornish and L. G. Phillips were the pallbearers, and the interment was at Woodlawn.

THE COURTS.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

It was an unusually dull day at this court. Justice Kasmire was on the bench from half-past six to half-past seven o'clock and disposed of the watch repairs promptly.

Conrad Klein was accused of stealing a number of pawn tickets belonging to Ernest Bodenmann, of New Jersey, representing $30 worth of property. He was held to answer.

Frank Morton was also held to answer for stealing a quantity of clothing belonging to Frederick Wendt, of Hackensack, the same being found in his possession.

Charles Fulman, aged twenty-six, of No. 249 Elizabeth street; Francis Friesand, of No. 272 Mot street (both colored), and Charles Smith, of No. 127 Elizabeth street, were arraigned for illegal voting, and discharged for want of evidence.

A measure was introduced looking toward

of orders in the standing committees. The dioceses of Connecticut, Maryland and Eastern have been exclusively on those committees. All the other dioceses have one-half laymen and one-half clergymen. Dr. Beardsley, Mr. Welsh, Governor Stevenson, Mr. Stark, Dr. Kidney, Hopkins and Watson spoke on this subject, Mr. Welsh in opposition. It was deemed an unwarrantable and unconstitutional interference with the rights of the dioceses, and was accordingly rejected.

Resolutions were adopted on the organization of the next General Convention; touching the pastoral relations of chaplains in theological seminaries; making the request of the House of Bishops necessary to the convening of the House of Bishops, under canon 18, title 1, for the purpose of discussing the subject of the bishop in the interim of the General Convention.

The bishops asked for the power to suspend a minister against whom charges of immoral conduct are preferred, pending the trial of those charges. The House of Deputies would not grant this because it gave the bishops an arbitrary power. They could suspend a minister on any pretext put on the trial, and perhaps never bring it on, and keep the man in condemnation. Another charge was preferred against a minister being suspended against him would lay himself liable to prosecution for perjury.

Resolutions of thanks were given to the officers of the Convention, to Dr. T. H. J. for his order of the day for the closing of the Convention, and to the House of Deputies for their action on the resolution of the House of Bishops.
